

Phil Godeck has been blessed to have had the opportunity to perform in theater, film, commercial, industrial and print advertising throughout New England. With a wide range of emotional and physical abilities in his suitcase, he has the ability to breathe a very unique life into the various characters he portrays. His IMDB credits include a variety of independent film work and web series pilots. Phil has also found success in local commercial work and industrial training films. He has a sincere passion for local theater and has been seen on stage throughout Connecticut and New York City in many theatrical productions and staged readings. Phil was a co-founder of Veterans Memorial Theatre Company and has worked with local professional acting coaches Mariah Sage from Theatre 4 and Cie Peterson, along with attending a variety of acting workshops.